I know you do not want to think about the topic of your best friend passing away, but it is important for us to know what your wishes would be.

In case your cat/ferret/rabbit gets sick the first call of duty by the CatSpa is to bring him/her to the vet, but if a cure is not possible or he/she dies in his/her sleep at the CatSpa and you are not reachable, what would you like us to do?

Call your emergency contact? And they will know your wishes.

Bring the body to your veterinary? If possible.

Keep the body frozen until you get back?

Have the body cremated either single or mass?

Please add any thoughts or comments that you might have. CatSpa will keep a copy of this on file and we hope never to have to refer to it.

All expenses will be billed back to the owner.
